“DONOGHUE DUO” TO COMPETE IN 2019 LONDON MARATHON
ON BEHALF OF HELP FOR CHILDREN

Long-Time HFC Supporters Adam and Carole Donoghue
Will Run to Raise Funds for the Fight Against Child Abuse

London, UK, January 15, 2019 – Help For Children today announced that on Sunday, April 28, 2019, the dynamic “Donoghue Duo” – Adam and Carole Donoghue – will compete in the prestigious 2019 Virgin Money London Marathon, running over 42 kilometers in support of Help For Children UK (HFC) and its efforts to fight child abuse.

Help For Children UK is the UK affiliate of Help For Children, an international foundation established in 1998, that is dedicated to preventing and treating child abuse in 13 cities throughout seven countries. As the Donoghues' named charity, HFC UK will receive any funds raised while they train and prepare for the Marathon this coming spring, and as with all of HFC's branches and affiliates, all money raised in a community stays in that community.

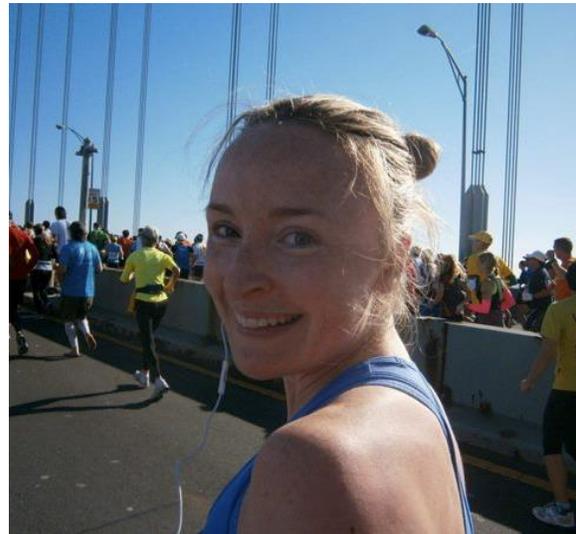

Since the inception of Help For Children UK in 2006, HFC has distributed more than £1.5 million to local charities that prevent and treat child abuse in the London metropolitan area. In 2018 alone, £250,000 in HFC grants funded child abuse prevention and treatment programs at the following organizations' – Abianda, Family Matters, Home Start Lambeth, Imara CIO, Marie Collins Foundation, Mulberry Bush School, and Safer London.

Adam Donoghue is a long-time supporter of HFC and serves as a partner in the Investment Management group of Maples and Calder's Irish practice, where he heads the Irish funds team in the firm's London office. Maples and Calder is a global sponsor of Help For Children, which was founded and is today still supported by the alternative investment community.

Carole Donoghue, Adam's wife, is a consultant radiologist at the Royal Brompton and Chelsea & Westminster hospitals. Her work in radiology has been acknowledged with a Radiologic Society of North America Roentgen Fellow Research Award in 2013 and a Royal Academy of Medicine in Ireland medal in January 2018.

Adam and Carole have previously completed multiple marathons in New York (pictured below in the 2011 New York City Marathon), Chicago, Berlin, Dublin and Galway. Dodgy ankles and the arrival of their twins brought a halt to their distance running, but they're coming out of retirement for one last hurrah for Help For Children.

About Help For Children

Help For Children (HFC), a not-for-profit established in 1998, is a global foundation dedicated to the prevention and treatment of child abuse through the support of the alternative investment community. Founded as Hedge Funds Care with deep roots in the hedge fund industry, today HFC is the alternative investment industry’s leading charity, with support from the hedge fund, private equity, venture capital, and real estate investment sectors as well as the financial services industry. Since its inception, HFC has funded more than $51 million in grants to organizations in seven countries across four major impact areas of child abuse prevention and treatment – decreasing risk, strengthening families, reducing trauma and building individual strengths. HFC, in partnership with the alternative investment community, is committed to making the world a safer place for children. Visit <http://uk.hfc.org/>.
